

BENIGN VULVAL LUMPS

MUCOUS CYST

Isolated, smooth cystic lesion on the right side of the inner labia. These are common, usually asymptomatic subepithelial cysts occurring in the vestibule. They are of variable sizes and usually solitary lesions that are skin coloured, red, yellow or occasionally have a bluish tinge. The cysts are lined histologically by mucinous epithelium. No treatment is needed.

Image subject to copyright - reprinted with kind permission of the owner